
Descriptive run-level associations; repeated physical cases and varying initialization/window policies are not independent samples.